To Those Concerned:

Tom Meyer and his ministry of sowing the Word of God have been known to me for nearly five years. I met him when he was a student at Shasta Bible College, a small conservative Christian institution in Northern California dedicated to equipping young adults to become evangelical preachers, teachers and missionaries.

I watched Tom specialize in memorizing portions of the Bible and reciting them with ease while many in the audience followed every word in their open Bibles. As he honed his skill in articulating the word and mastering its inflections and meaning, he added dramatic gestures and some elements of costume when appropriate.

Both by example and Biblical reasoning, Tom Meyer quickened his listeners to value and reflect upon Scripture. I've always esteemed Tom's honesty in explaining how he memorized long passages of the Bible – the old fashioned way – write out the chapters and verses in long hand until the text was internalized.

I hardily commend Tom Meyer for his ministry of memorizing and applying the Truths of God's Word and his willingness to travel and evangelize – "the Lord working with (him), confirming the Word with signs following." (Mark 16:20)
